`

Welcome to the [redacted] Knowledge Network!

Welcome to the [redacted] Knowledge Network: a collaborative community where employees can connect with peers across similar professional disciplines to share knowledge, exchange best practices, and support one another's professional growth.

The Knowledge Network is designed to complement your day-to-day work by providing access to a broader network of expertise across Yempo. While discussions are collaborative, all employees remain dedicated to their respective clients and existing reporting lines.

Before You Post

To help keep the community organized and valuable for everyone:

- Search first. Check existing discussions to see if your question has already been answered.
- Choose the appropriate channel. Post your question in the channel that best matches the topic.
- One topic per thread. Create a new thread for a new topic, and keep all related discussions within that thread.
- Use the discussion template. Providing enough context helps other members give more accurate and relevant responses.
- Protect confidential information. Never include client-identifiable, confidential, or sensitive information in your posts.

Discussion Template

When creating a new discussion, we encourage using the following format:

- Title
  Use a short, descriptive title.
- Background
  Provide a brief overview of your situation.
- My Question
  What advice or recommendations are you seeking?
- Additional Information/What I've Already Tried
  Include any relevant context that may help others provide guidance or mention any documentation you've already reviewed.

MARY SHARKS • DOCUMENTATION PORTFOLIO • NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

Community Etiquette

To maintain a positive and productive environment, please:

- Be respectful and professional in all interactions.
- Share constructive advice based on your knowledge or experience.
- Keep replies relevant to the original discussion.
- Avoid creating duplicate threads for the same topic.
- Acknowledge and thank members who have helped answer your questions.

Need Additional Assistance?

If your question remains unanswered after a reasonable period, or if it requires specialized expertise, you may tag the Community Moderator, who will help engage the appropriate Subject Matter Expert (SME) or direct you to the appropriate business function if needed.

Thank you for being part of the [redacted] Knowledge Network. We encourage everyone to participate, share their expertise, and help build a collaborative community that benefits employees across the organization.

MARY SHARRA • DOCUMENTATION PORTFOLIO • NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION